

Adjustment Improvements

Overview

Borrowers with a Mortgage Assistance Program (MAP) loan or a Deferred Interest Program (DIP) loan from Stanford University are advised to document improvements made to the home on which the loan(s) are secured. Under certain defined circumstances, the amount due on the Due Date may be subject to adjustments for improvements, resulting in a reduction of the amount of Deferred Interest payable by the borrower. These adjustments are available only if there has been appreciation in the Property.

MAP Deferred Interest is payable on the Due Date (and on the date of any Prepayment) in an amount equal to the lesser of (i) Stanford's Share of Appreciation, or (ii) an amount of interest, which when added to Current Interest previously paid to Stanford, would result in a return to Stanford on the Outstanding Principal from time to time equal to the Note rate, compounded annually. Credits for improvements only apply to the calculation of Stanford's Share of Appreciation.

DIP Deferred Interest is payable on the Due Date (and on the date of any Prepayment) in an amount equal to Stanford's Share of Appreciation.

ADJUSTMENT IMPROVEMENTS

An Adjustment Improvement is an improvement made to the Property during the life of the loan (excluding repairs and improvements constructed with insurance proceeds or the cost of which is reimbursed through insurance proceeds) that meets all of the following criteria:

1. as defined by Internal Revenue Service regulations, the improvement on the Due Date constitutes a capital improvement, the cost of which is properly added to a homeowner's adjusted basis in the Property for capital gains tax purposes;
2. it is not in violation of any applicable zoning and building codes;
3. all required building permits have been obtained;
4. all Stanford policies have been complied with;
5. it is completed prior to determining the Due Date Fair Market Value; and
6. it remains, as determined in the sole discretion of Stanford, a part of the Property on the Due Date.

Improvements add value to your home, prolong its useful life, or adapt it to new uses. They have a useful life of more than one year. For example, adding a family room or bathroom, installing a new fence, upgrading your plumbing or wiring, putting on a new roof, or paving your unpaved driveway are considered improvements. The following chart from the Department of the Treasury, Internal Revenue Service Publication 523 lists examples of improvements.

EXAMPLES OF IMPROVEMENTS

|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Additions | Heating and Air Conditioning |
| Bedroom Bathroom Deck Garage Porch Patio | Heating system Central air conditioning Furnace Duct work Central humidifier Filtration system |
| Lawn and Grounds | Plumbing |
| Landscaping Driveway Walkway Fence Retaining wall Sprinkler system Swimming pool | Septic system Water heater Soft water system Filtration system |
| Miscellaneous | Interior Improvements |
| Storm windows, doors New roof Central vacuum Wiring upgrades Satellite dish Security system | Built-in appliances Kitchen modernization Flooring Wall-to-wall carpeting |
| Insulation | |
| Attic Walls and floors Pipes and ductwork | |

Improvements that are no longer a part of your home do not qualify for adjustment. For example, if you put wall-to-wall carpeting in your home several years ago and later replaced the carpet, the cost of the old carpeting can not be included as an adjustment improvement.

No adjustment of actual cost will be made to account for inflation or for labor performed by the borrower.

REPAIRS

Repairs are not eligible for adjustment. Repairs maintain the home in good condition, but do not add to its value or prolong its life. Repainting your house inside and outside, repairing your gutters, fixing leaks, or replacing a broken window are examples of repairs.

PROCESS

At the time of loan re-payment, a borrower may request that an Adjustment Improvement be included in the calculation of Stanford's Share of Appreciation. To qualify for the credit, the borrower must submit from an independent Certified Public Accountant (CPA), acceptable to Stanford, the following:

1. a statement on the CPA's letterhead, including his/her name, address, and telephone number, and includes:
 - i. the name of the borrower,
 - ii. the address of the residence where the Adjustment Improvement(s) were completed,
 - iii. a list of the Adjustment Improvement(s) which includes the date, the description, and the cost of the Adjustment Improvement(s); and
2. the Certification, which is attached to this brochure.

It is the borrower's responsibility to provide to Faculty Staff Housing (FSH) the CPA's statement and Certification prior to a full or partial loan payment. The borrower should carefully review the CPA's statement and Certification and address any questions or concerns regarding the documents before submission to Stanford. The Certification is subject to review and acceptance by Stanford. Stanford reserves the right to obtain the opinion of a CPA if it reasonably believes the opinion of borrower's CPA is in error. A re-calculation of Deferred Interest will not be made after the loan payment is received.
